ASSIGNEE SALE

[illegible]

EUGENE PRAGER, Assignee.

Parisian Suit Co.

Of late years the Christmas or holiday trade has seriously interfered with the sale of

CLOAKS AND SUITS

During the entire month of December, causing what was always the best Cloak month of the year to be one of the poorest.

We are determined this season to prevent this falling off in sales by making at once QUICK, SHARP, AND DECISIVE.

Reductions

In our entire stock, allowing every one a chance to buy NOW, at JANUARY or FEBRUARY prices, thus giving our customers the satisfaction of wearing a garment purchased at a reduced price fully a month earlier than formerly.

SUITS.

Every Dress in Stock is this day reduced, including everything from our own make in flannel or cloth to the highest imported costume, ranging as to offer a very serviceable all-wool dress at low as $10.00, fitted to the form without extra charge.

ALL CLOAKS,

No matter whether they have been in stock but a few days or not, have met with the same

General Reduction.

To quote prices would be meaningless, as quality cannot be described, but must be examined in connection with price to carry any weight. Sufficient it is to say that we are determined to UNLOAD our large stock on the public if LOW PRICES will do it, knowing full well that if we are in condition to buy later on we can do so on a much lower plane of Prices than prevail at the height of the season.

172, 174, AND 176 STATE STREET.

Willoughby, Hill & Co.

Call for L Street Railroads NOW!

Don't wait till "tomorrow,"
The task is harder the longer delay!
If you have anything to do,
Don't wait, but do it TODAY!

The Proper Streets for L. Roads.

State street south ten miles, with branches.
Clark from Wilson, and corner State north to Evanston, and branches.
Madison street west ten miles with branches.
Property-owners on these streets (if afraid of injury to their property)

CAN GET SQUARE BUYING SUBURBAN PROPERTY.

—HOWEVER—

There Will Be No Depreciation of any Property in Chicago, Real or Personal.

From Elevated Railroads. Streets do not have to be torn up to build Elevated Roads. Streets will be relieved of "some" surface cars and the transportation of merchandise facilitated.

Then Foot Passengers Can Cross Streets Without Risk of Life.

(Some of these "Cabs" will have to go). "Thanks."

Chicago Will Be the Cheapest Manufacturing and Distributing Point in the World.

—AND THE—

Population of Chicago in 1900

If we build L. Roads (Now, while YOU and "WE" live) will be 2,000,000!

And people will flock here from all parts of the world.

Mr. "PROPERTY-OWNER," do you wish the Elevated Railroad to be built ON SOME OTHER FELLOW'S STREET? Oh, how you would "KICK" yourself in a year or two.

WILLOUGHBY, HILL & CO.

Will give $1,000 to the company that will build an Elevated Railroad to pass their store.

"Workingwomen & Workingmen of Chicago,"

That work with their "hands" and their "heads," how much longer and healthier you would live if you could get to and from your "Cottage" to your work in 15 minutes, and ride "comfortable."

Chicago (that's YOU) own the "STREETS," not those property-owners, and "LUCKY" is the man owning property on "YOUR" STREET that gets the L. Railroad. If Wabash avenue gets it, good-by State street. If Van Buren street gets the L. Road how "lonesome" Madison, Randolph, and Lake streets will be.

All Those People in Favor of L Roads "Now," Greeting!

Fare, 5 Cents. 12 Tickets, 50 Cents.
Good for a ride wherever you desire to go.

PLEASE MEET AT OUR STORE

Corner Madison and Clark,

FOR WE SELL THE KIND OF CLOTHES "YOU" DESIRE.

And you are the customers we can please, for we sell "MODERN" Clothes, and as the Clothes are "NEW" we are "CERTAIN" we cannot suit "opposers" of L. R. Roads, for they are fellows that oppose everything new unless in their own interest.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

An Abstract from the Work on Pulmonary Diseases Published by Prof. Prosper de Pietra Santa, of Paris.

"The name given Johann Hoff, of Berlin, has accustomed a liquid malt extract which, the medical profession have said with much interest, because of its great curative properties. This malt extract has respirable assimilative action, acts mild and refreshingly, and has proved to be of great value in chronic diseases, promoting a continuous rich flow of the secretions of the digestive organs. As an aid to digestion it is invaluable in building up new growth. The great practitioners of Paris—Gaudry, Barth, Giovanni de Bruno, Fiteau, Barron, Simple, Claude, Gubler, de Lamey, Desnoulets, Fleury and Perrier—highly recommend this pleasant remedy in exhausting consumptive diseases. The greatest importance should be attached to the opinion which Prof. Gubler expresses in the following words: 'Every large proportion of persons lack the necessary power to digest solid food, and would thereby, for want of nourishment be merely starved and weakened, experience I regard it of inestimable value to the practitioner in curing in the most unobjectionable and rapid manner, the most obstinate diseases. Hoff's Malt Extract, which will not only act as a tonic, but as a nutriment as well, and which is now exciting much attention in the medical world.'

"DR. PROSPER DE PIETRA SANTA,
"Chief Clerk to Medicine, Paris Academy of Medicine, Paris."

DR. LAMB'S LETTER.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 6, 1886.

Messrs. Eisner & Mendelson: I have used Johann Hoff's Malt Extract for the past five years in my extensive practice, and have found it to be the best health restoring beverage and tonic therapeutic known. I have found it especially good in pulmonic consumptive throat affections, in cases of bronchitis, the nervous wasting and in cases of mental sufferers, and also in lung troubles. As a therapeutic it has proven by the numerous testimonials sent monthly, and even a million of bottles imported by you have proved my opinion to be correct. Yours respectfully,

W. H. LAMB, M. D.,
Chief Lung Inspector, U. S. Medical Dispensaries.

DODGING THE LIGHTNING.

Senate Committee Listens to Views of Edison and Others.

Some of the Methods Now Said and Others Are Suggested for Its Safe Guidance—Other Witnesses Among Forthcoming Testimony—Some Recommending Abolishing the Wire Companies.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—The second great fire in the Western Union building this week happened last night. Some workmen were engaged in repairing the offices on the fifth floor, and in raising the partitions between some of the rooms they had occasion to move the wires that run through the building. In some way the wires were brought into contact with the iron partitions, and the latter became charged with electricity. The fire started in the room occupied by the Associated Press, and the operators were driven out. The fire department was called, and the flames were soon extinguished. The damage will not exceed $1,000.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—The Senate Committee on Education and Labor, which has been investigating the effects of telegraph and telephone wires upon the health of the employés, and the danger to life and property from the use of such wires, met this morning in the Senate Committee room, Senator Call presiding. Mr. Edison was the first witness called. He said that he had been experimenting for the past two years with a view to ascertaining the best method of insulating wires. He had found that the best insulation was a combination of paraffine and rubber. He had also found that the best method of placing the wires was underground. He had laid a number of wires underground in New York, and had found that they worked well. He had also found that the wires could be placed underground at a cost not exceeding that of placing them on poles. He had found that the wires placed underground were not affected by the electricity in the atmosphere, and that they were not affected by lightning. He had also found that the wires placed underground were not affected by the electricity in the atmosphere, and that they were not affected by lightning. He had also found that the wires placed underground were not affected by the electricity in the atmosphere, and that they were not affected by lightning.

Mr. Edison was followed by Mr. Gilliland, who said that he had been experimenting for the past two years with a view to ascertaining the best method of insulating wires. He had found that the best insulation was a combination of paraffine and rubber. He had also found that the best method of placing the wires was underground. AT THE POINT OF DEATH.

Judge Barnard's Opinion Not a Matter of a Few Weeks.

Tacoma, Ill., Dec. 10.—The Hon. John F. Dillon, Judge of the United States Court for the Circuit of Iowa, who has been ill at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Bates, with a severe attack of rheumatism, is now considered by his physicians to be at the point of death. He has been confined to his bed for nearly four weeks, and has been unable to sit up during the whole time. He is now in a state of extreme weakness, and his physicians say that he cannot live more than a few days at the most. He is surrounded by his family, who are all with him, and they are doing everything in their power to make his last days as comfortable as possible.

HE HAS REACHED THE TOP

Judge Barnard Elected Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

The Choice Was Unanimous—Congratulations Showered Upon the Judge—Views of the Democratic Members—Meeting of the Republicans Called—Other Matters of Interest.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Justice Barnard, who has been chosen by the Democrats of the Legislature to succeed Chief Justice Ruger, has been a member of the Supreme Court bench for fourteen years, and has been one of the most prominent members of the bench during that time. He was born in Otsego County, this State, and is now about 60 years of age. He was graduated from the University of the City of New York, and studied law in the office of Daniel Lord, Sr., and was admitted to the bar in 1849. He practiced his profession in this city for a number of years, and was elected to the Supreme Court bench in 1873. He was re-elected in 1887, and his present term of office will expire in 1901. He was appointed by Governor Cleveland to the General Term of the Supreme Court, and was assigned to the First Department, which position he has held ever since. He is a member of the Union League Club, and is a prominent member of the Democratic party in this city. He is a man of fine appearance, and is very popular with the members of the bar. He is a man of great ability, and is considered one of the most learned judges on the bench. He is a man of great ability, and is considered one of the most learned judges on the bench. He is a man of great ability, and is considered one of the most learned judges on the bench.

Judge Barnard.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—The Democratic members of the Legislature met in caucus this evening, and unanimously nominated Judge Barnard for Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals. The caucus was held in the Assembly chamber, and was called to order by Senator Murphy, who stated that the object of the meeting was to nominate a candidate for Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, to succeed Judge Ruger, whose term of office will expire on the first day of January, 1888. BOSS CROKER FOR GOVERNOR AGAIN.

He Has Not Ceased a Secret While Away in Ireland.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—The ground swell to elect the boss engine chief of the Chicago & State are is now actively covering twenty-two square of Union is being driven across the country and each and so is Tribune of smoke and gas are coming up and the ground has settled from twelve to fifteen feet between the Co. 1 State shaft and the new engine shaft, and it is dangerous work for the men. The first case of all the trouble at the Chicago & State mine is found in the fact that the hanging wall—that is the rock overhead, as tunnelmen drifts are made—is bad, and likely to fall at any time if not supported by heavy timbers. It is this caused that a cave after, and of the fears is a shaft down to the mine. The setting means that the men employed beneath some of the timbers and that the overhanging rock would fall. THE Fire and the Steam Engine.

New York, Dec. 10.—[Special.]—The latest reports from the Chicago & State show that little progress has been made in extinguishing the fire, and the use of gas has been discontinued, according to yesterday's reports. It is said that the reason for the company's giving up trying to get out the fire with gas is principally from lack of materials to make it with. The cleaning of the engine has stopped the supply of engine oil, and some will spring. The shaft here at this company is to be the experiment to try and save their fire, and their ore before burning. There will not be any more attempts of the men and they will not be allowed to go down into the mine, as the gas is so strong that it would be impossible for them to work. The fire is now under control, and the men are working as usual.

The special production of copper ore in the district of the Chicago & State mine is said to be very large. The mine is one of the richest in the country, and the ore is of a very high grade. The mine is owned by a company of which the principal stockholders are Chicago men, and it is said that the company is about to erect a large smelting plant at the mine. The mine is now being worked by a force of about 100 men, and it is expected that the number will be increased to 200 in the near future. The mine is situated in the mountains of Colorado, and is reached by a narrow gauge railroad from the main line of the Chicago & State road. BATTLE WITH INDIAN AGENTS.

Five Men Killed and Several Wounded in an Attack on Reno's Camp.

Phoenix, Ari., Dec. 10.—[Special.]—Four months ago a fight with Indian agents occurred in the Apache country, in which a number of Indians were killed. The fight was the result of a dispute between the Indians and the agents. The Indians had been promised a certain amount of provisions, but the agents refused to give them. The Indians then attacked the agents, and a fight ensued. The agents were defeated, and the Indians took possession of the provisions. The Indians then left the reservation, and have been roaming about the country ever since. They have been committing depredations, and the settlers have been in constant fear of their lives. ATTEMPT TO KILL PERRY

A DESPERADO CAME TO HIS CELL THE SPECIAL GUARDSMAN.

The latest Judy Dighty Wrestler arrested at the World's fair insists it frightens him. Search him closer! With the short-lived Globe Book and Card Opportunity, short lived Typewriter-Interest Note Issue closed.

Cairo, Dec. 21.—[Special.]—Gale Perry was fired at from inside his allowance to a man in the letter of the Chamber of Deputies. Some sportsmen followed.

M. Perry was shot by a man named Gendron, Gendron appeared to the Chamber of Deputies and asked to see both M. Perry and M. Gendron. M. Gendron did not appear to investigate a reporter's interview, and M. Perry, who was in the appointment Gendron made a mistake and then there was no.

It was reported that one of the bullets struck M. Perry in the chest. In reply to inquiries he stated as to the severity of the wound he responded: "It is nothing."

Gendron has been arrested.

A medical examination of the bullets is said that one of the bullets struck M. Perry. The first passed over the chest, slightly penetrating the body. The second bullet struck M. Perry on the right side, near the knee. The wound is superficial. M. Perry's wounds are of the slightest character.

Gendron is 28 years of age. He states that he is not of a band of conspirators. The band does not, and it has no desire to commit the first crime. Gendron declares that he acted by all M. Perry.

After the shooting had been classified as an act of the moment, M. Perry consented to his removal from the Chamber of Deputies. Gendron was taken to the office of the Chamber of Deputies, where he was questioned.

How People Amused Themselves in Those Primitive Days—Dancing Night of the Year Needs Fear Rich—A Medley of Weddings and Dinner Parties—Quiet Enjoyment at the Kingdom—The Belle of the Week in Our Town.

Life may prove to gentlemen unlikely to devote too much [illegible] Parliament, but that it [illegible] Ireland; or Ireland that there is much [illegible] from subsidies to the subsidized [illegible]. It may be more elegant and significant to read an elaborately engraved invitation [illegible] requesting the pleasure of Mr. Short's [illegible] at a progressive euchre party than it is to drop into a little informal note asking him to run over here a little while of nights, but it is not to be said that these [illegible] are the pleasures of the "little people of earth." It may be more proper for a knight to take a golden scepter to accolade with a bronze grenade using a dash of [illegible] than it is to parley with one another [illegible] and dukes quite handy, but it is not nearly so pleasant.

What would Chicago think now if it was forty young members of representative men and women, starting for a year and not the quarter or fortnight? What would it think if it took this same forty going through the excitement of a several years in Liberia [illegible]? What would it think if a well-born young maiden who loves to make [illegible] pretty and merry wishes to [illegible] these style-lovers only as pleasant? What the answer would be here hands to forty [illegible] are pretty sensible say: "Shocked to [illegible]!"

Yet such things happened but a few years ago, when the Kinzie-Clybourn [illegible] were in their prime. Then it was a [illegible] Then it was a [illegible] Then it was a [illegible]

WRECKED BY A JUSTICE.

A STORY OF MISMATCHED YOUNG PEOPLE IN CHICAGO.

Justice Lynch's Experience with a Couple Who Thought the Time Too High—The Bold Burglar in the Justice Parlor's Bedroom Front of the Fireplace—A Girl and Knights Who Believed Matters Could Be Settled Without Statement by the Magistrate.

A dark, overbrowed, boyish-countenanced young man, with a short and round girl for a companion, came into police headquarters, corner of Harrison Street and Fourth Avenue, last Wednesday afternoon.

"How much time is it cost to get married, Judge?" he asked.

"Two dollars," said Captain Lynch.

"That's a heap of money, Judge, for them as is hard up. Don't you do it on shingles?"

"Two dollars is the fee."

The young man turned back to the girl.

"Two dollars, Pete," he said.

"That's a heap of money," said Pete.

"We got to stand it, I reckon, Pete?"

Pete nodded, and the determined man spoke to the Captain, who was behind the railing.

"Here's money to cover costs, Judge. Now throw in slapping hash."

"Do you want your name in a Sunday book with each $5 and I won't charge you a cent," said the Captain, lowering the entire body.

The man turned the hands with eyes and then produced the money.

"Throw a fling, Judge," he said as he placed the coin by the pen and screwed for the man evidently thought the Judge would change his mind and refund the second $5.

"I made a bad break and said 'age,'" said the Judge to the reporter, "and if you don't give it away I'll cut off the story. A young man should never assign as a reason for wishing to marry one to a state institution where he can get board and lodging. Of course I agreed to do the young fool's bidding. I went to the young lady's home at 6 that evening. I went in and made love to her while the young friends, school and patent medicine, sat in their seats. I had time, as the rough-a-boo's letter was to be delivered at 7. Unfortunately I fell asleep and slept the sleep of the babe and overwhelming fatigue. I was aroused by a deafening thundering at the door. It was 8 and I knew as well as I know my own name that I had missed the train. I was right. The young man and his bride had gone to Milwaukee. I had to marry them myself. I did it, and I'll be hanged if I don't think I did it well. I gave them a good talk on the duties of husband and wife, and I'll bet a hat that they are happy. I'm sorry I missed the train, but I'm glad I married them."

Justice Lynch is a young man, and he has been in office but a few months. He is a graduate of the Law School of Northwestern University, and has been practicing law in Chicago for several years. SELF-MADE MILLIONAIRES

A GOOD MANY HAVE HAD LITTLE TO START WITH.

Senator Sawyer's Profitable Investments—Formerly an Ox Team Driver and Now Quite Rich—Senator Allen Has Been Both and Has Grown Wise Here and There—Senator Hansbrough's Rise from Editorship—The Fortune of Senator Dick Pettibone.

Senator Sawyer is one of the rich men of Washington and has been. This is the estimate of Gen. Franklin A. Pulsifer, United States Census Commissioner. It is formed upon statistics and it is current on rather than over estimate.

Philetus Sawyer, the millionaire United States Senator from Wisconsin, brought up one of the ladies, and at 17 years of age he married her on the way to Wisconsin to return. Before he left New York from the steamer at the other brother's house and the brother gave him a silver collar to make the sum $5,000. For long years the brother remained content to add to the amount of $5,000. He had a good farm, but to profit with the increase of the family were only endless toil to the farmer, and he was unable to accept the offer of the brother to provide for the education of the children. Then Philetus Sawyer went West, and in a few years he was worth $1,000,000. He is now worth $10,000,000, and his children have been educated and established without assistance from the parent. Philetus Sawyer is very rich, and it is a fact that the greater portion of his wealth has come from Washington. The Government has been his principal customer, and he has been a contractor for supplies for the army and navy. He has been a contractor for supplies for the army and navy. A new moment of a conspiracy mentioned Saturday in this column of ——is by some considered a pretty daughter and an imposing mother. They were talking in the hotel corridors and mothers-in-law said:

"Let's get out of this crowd a minute."

"Lucky," said daughter, "if you go to Marshall Field's and buy something, you know you will. You're overcome your grievances and your father does not make you to explain business habits given your mother. I wouldn't dream myself to the day of resignation if I were you."

And the old lady made a move as if she were going on.

"Mamma, you are just as big a girl as I am; you want to see all the pretty things. I do declare I never had so many the pretty new notes made me happy, so when we, and I promise you I'll not speak a word."

They went in, and so did I. They were the big and pricy stores in the most fashionable style, with their eyes to a magnificent of the purest fancy goods, fans, curtains, embroideries, and such elegant trifles. There were fat as a pin the moment with mother and daughter; then they turned and looked at each other. "Just too simply," said one, "such an unnecessary waste," said the other.

"If I become a widow but can't get the things with that money," softly observed the daughter, "I shall be a perfect outcome of the law. I especially enjoyed the moment I was in the Queen's Jewelry, though the effect matter of Empress Liberty. The two looked and laughed, others were discovered and wondered. "I am sure I'm not going to be seen in public with you," said the mother, "you are positively disgraceful. I'll not speak to you for a week. Imagine the moment that you were discovered in the Queen's Jewelry, and you were arrested for the diamond that the lady behind should be found with when leaving. Really, I'm ashamed of you. I'll not speak to you for a week."

Ways and Means of Women.

They were a couple who had lived a long life of love and affection. The poor had grown to quite calm without fuss or worry, and they had reached the years of contentment and peace. Their family had grown to seven boys, and they had nothing to do but love one another and live in the affections of young married children, and at their table, and conversation of each with the dignity of the old folks. Their income was small, but they had always lived within it, and had always been able to help their children when they were in need. The old gentleman was a man of few words, and his wife had always been content to have it so. She was a happy woman, to her home was the world, and she had never wished for a happier portion. It was her only pride that she had been able to bring up her children and with credit and honor to herself. She was a woman of few words, but she had a wonderful knowledge of human nature, and her judgment was always sought by her husband and children. They were both in the habit of reading the daily papers, and they had their favorite columns. The old lady was a great reader of the household hints, and she had learned many a lesson from them. It was her only way of keeping up with the times. She was a great lover of children and both they and their children were very fond of her. Those who are prosperous get very little out of life. They are so occupied with their business that they have no time to enjoy the fruits of their labors. Those who are unfortunate have time to repine, and they do so. The old people were happy because they had learned the secret of happiness. They had learned to be contented with their lot, and they had learned to be happy because they had learned to be contented. They were not rich, but they had enough to live comfortably and to help their children when they were in need. They had been married over forty years, and they had had their little troubles, but they had always been able to laugh them away. They had learned the secret of life. They had learned to be happy. They had learned to be contented. They had learned to be happy because they had learned to be contented. They had learned to be happy because they had learned to be contented. They had learned to be happy because they
